New York State Department of Financial Services
Insurance Law Section 2612 and Insurance Regulation 168
Effective January 1, 2013

Summary

Insurance Law § 2612 states that if any person covered by an insurance policy issued to another person who is the policyholder or if any person covered under a group policy delivers to the insurer that issued the policy, a valid order of protection against the policyholder or other person, then the insurer is prohibited for the duration of the order from disclosing to the policyholder or other person the address and telephone number of the insured, or of any person or entity providing covered services to the insured. The regulation governs confidentiality protocols for domestic violence victims and endangered individuals.
